

Pubhub Reader (Web)

Embedding the reader on your site

The reader may be embedded through an `iframe`, however, for the best experience we recommend embedding it directly on to your site:

1. Include reader scripts/styling

Replace `2.1.0` with the required version:

```
<script defer="defer" type="module" src="//reader.pubhub.dk/2.1.0/js/chunk-vendors.js"></script>
<script defer="defer" type="module" src="//reader.pubhub.dk/2.1.0/js/app.js"></script>
<link href="//reader.pubhub.dk/2.1.0/css/chunk-vendors.css" rel="stylesheet" />
<link href="//reader.pubhub.dk/2.1.0/css/app.css" rel="stylesheet" />
<script defer="defer" src="//reader.pubhub.dk/2.1.0/js/chunk-vendors-legacy.js" nomodule></script>
>
<script defer="defer" src="//reader.pubhub.dk/2.1.0/js/app-legacy.js" nomodule></script>
```

2. Insert the required reader element

The id of the element must be `pubhub-reader`.

Don't forget to replace the `order-id` and `close-href` attributes.

```

```

The following attributes are supported:

Attribute	Description
<code>order-id</code>	Id of the order (<code>internalorderid</code>) from the library-/retailer-API.
<code>identifier</code>	ISBN/GTIN-13 of the book for sample mode.
<code>environment</code>	Pubhub-environment in which the order is created. Supported values: <code>qa</code> , <code>live</code> . Default value if omitted: <code>live</code>
<code>close-href</code>	URL or javascript (prepending with <code>javascript:</code>), which the reader's close-button executes.

Updating the reader

To update the reader, simply replace the version number in the url (e.g. 2.1.0) of the scripts/stylesheets.
